

My name is Riley Murphy and I am currently a senior at LRHS. This is my fourth year in the journalism program and I have loved every minute of it. Writing has been one of my greatest passions since as long as I can remember. Last year I branched out into podcasting and it has been very beneficial to my interviewing and communicating skills. I am the Vice President of Cercle Français and I participate in both Quill and Scroll and National Honors Society. This year I hope to join the Academic Team. I have really enjoyed LRHS these past three years because I feel like large public schools sort of live on a different plain of existence where anything goes. I remember on the last day of my freshman year I didn't even flinch as I watched a kid roller blade down the hall. Every day is definitely an adventure. This year I am trying to challenge myself and finally decide what I want to study in college.
