

My name is Sydney Wicks, I'm in 11th grade here at Lakewood Ranch High School and I'm also one of the two associate editors in the Mustangs Ahead journalism program. This is my 3rd year being involved in this program, and aside from loving all of the students also involved, I'm in journalism because I think participating in as many things as you can makes your high school experience worth it and I get to help make sure everyone is aware of all the things they can participate in around the ranch. I am also apart of The Lady Mustangs soccer team, Student Government Association, and the National Honor Society here at LRHS, and play on a club soccer team outside of school. I like going to school at LRHS because the staff cares not only about your education, but also about your overall well being and it creates a comfortable and supportive community. My main goal for my high school career is to graduate in the top 10 percent of my class.
